Batavon Steelwork, part of A L Lintels (Batavon), is a specialist designer, manufacturer and fitter of high quality steelwork products to many builders' merchants and national housebuilders and the firm has just been named as Supplier of the Year 2010 by Redrow Homes (south west). The company has been suppliers of fabricated structural steelwork to Redrow for a little over 12 months. Director Grant Morris commented: "To actually win an award such as this is a real honour, and it is always fantastic to receive this recognition from our customers for all the hard work that is put in to service each account."

Based from an eight acre site just outside of Bristol, Batavon works directly with the main client's architects and engineers producing housetype and plot specific takeoffs for their steelwork and padstone requirements. Its in-house
